Life's Work

JAMES REED

"A tree that it takes both arms to encircle grew from a tiny rootlet"

A wide-angle photograph of a large, historic stone building, likely a university hall, featuring a prominent central clock tower with a blue-tiled roof. The building is surrounded by a well-maintained green lawn, and a paved path leads from the foreground towards the central entrance. The sky is bright blue with scattered white clouds.

“A pagoda of nine stories was erected by placing small bricks.”

“A journey of three thousand miles begins with one step.”

Lao Tzu, from the Tao Te Ching
